Aloha!

Spend a fabulous week in Paradise

Poipu Beach, Kauai –
The Island's Sunny Side

Donated by Phyllis and Scott Bedford

*Raffle Price: Each ticket $100
(100 tickets available for sale)*

Nestled on 35 gorgeous acres of landscaped lawns and gardens, Kiahuna Plantation Resort hosts one of the best beaches on the island. Just steps away from Poipu Beach, you will enjoy a beautifully furnished ocean view 2 bedroom, 2 bath condo (sleeps 6). Vaulted ceilings, louvered windows and a lanai gives this condo a classic Hawaiian feel.

Kiahuna Plantation Resort is the ideal location to explore all of Kauai's amazing adventures: hiking, snorkeling, kayaking and boating. Tennis, swimming pool and sports club (included) are a short walk away. Golf is also nearby. We invite you to be our guest at our home away from home.

Mutually Agreed Upon Dates.

DONATED BY THE STUDIO SHOP AND MELINDA COOTSONA

Melinda Cootsona

Lost in Thought
Oil on Canvas | 48" x 42"
Value $8,200

Melinda Lomax Cootsona is a native of Northern California. Born and raised near Stanford University, she has been greatly influenced by the Bay Area artistic tradition. She received her BFA from the California College of the Arts, in Oakland, CA. Melinda has been inspired by the Society of Six and the Bay Area Figurative artists; many of whom studied at, or taught at, her alma mater. Other influences include contemporary artists Kim Froshin, William Rushton and Linda Christensen.

Having painted for over 25 years, Melinda is currently focusing on abstract and figurative work, often combining elements of both. The unifying element in her paintings is a strong sense of color and composition. Pulling from a "California palette," the artist's work is vibrant and saturated with a keen sense of light. Her paintings have been exhibited in many solo and group exhibitions throughout the West Coast, and recently at the Coos Bay Museum of Art in Oregon.

Kirsten Tradowsky

Fillmore West 1974, 2017
Oil on Canvas | 30 x 40 inches
Value: $6,500

Painting is a means of excavation. My work starts with a found image, often discarded at an estate sale or buried online. Whether it is a forgotten family snapshot or a stack of dishes, the objects are reanimated through the act of painting. In the process, lines, light, and details are dramatized and diminished, uncovering new meaning that encourages a dialogue across time.

My work has been exhibited throughout the United States, including Kopeikin Gallery in Los Angeles and Red Dot Art Fair in New York. My work has been reviewed in The Los Angeles Times and the blog Lenscratch. I earned a BFA from the Cleveland Institute of Art and an MFA from the California College of the Arts. I currently work in San Francisco.

DONATED BY TERRI FROELICH

Terri Froelich

Foundation 12
Acrylic on Wood Panel | 48" x 48"
Value: $4,500

Terri Froelich, a Bay Area contemporary abstract painter and photographer, lives and works in Sausalito. Photography has been a passion since her youth. However, the evolution of digital photography created a void in regards to the precision and tactility of film, so in 2002 she began painting.

The inspiration for her work is found in details discovered during exploration and travel – nature, beach, water, architecture, rust, topography – to name a few of her sources! With a degree in photography, the balance and composition she sees through the lens easily translates to her paintings. Her paintings have won awards, been exhibited in galleries nationally and internationally, juried into art exhibitions and are part of several museums and private collections.
